LABOR NOTES OF WIDE INTEREST

To-day the toiling masses, painfully conscious of the inequalities that exist in the distribution of the desirable things of life, with increasing intelligence are applying to better advantage the power they untidily possess, in both the political and industrial fields. The philosophy of their endeavor is based upon actually existing conditions, and the movements that engage their attention primarily are the establishment of a wage scale more compatible with the environments of the twentieth century civilization and an eight-hour day; justifiable compensation in case of industrial accidents and the abolition of child labor; equal pay for equal work, no matter by whom performed, and a voice in the establishment of the wage rate; safe and sanitary conditions under which to work, and the adjustment of grievances upon a basis of equity; settlement of wage disputes by honorable arbitration, rather than through strike or lockout; no discrimination against those active in the affairs of the union and elimination of injunction abuses in labor disputes; the modification of police powers now exercised to destroy the right of free speech, free press and free assembly; election of a chief factory inspector, or by direct vote of the people and imprisonment for vote buyers and vote sellers; abolition of the practice of assisting voters at the polls, except in cases of actual disability, and equal and just taxation for all, special privileges for none; the initiative, referendum and recall—the referendum to apply to all legislation except emergency measures, and the recall to apply to all public officials, including the judges of the supreme court of the United States; election of United States senators by popular vote and a direct presidential primary election; ultimate public ownership and operation of public utilities and a square deal all around. These are some of the things we workers want, and rest assured we will never stop until we get them.

Well, some of us would like to know how hogs are selling at 8½ cents wholesale and retailing at an average of 16½ cents. This figures out at 100 per cent profit, and furthermore is not blameable to Chicago markets, but right in Barre and vicinity. Where does the square deal come in here?

A good deal of dissatisfaction is felt by our local storekeepers—partly justifiable—that considerable trading is being done by the good wives of Barre with the traveling butcher, grocer and green goods men from the outlying districts. It is claimed on reliable authority that the local merchants sell cheaper than the non-taxpaying invader, employ union help, work union hours and are left with the sweet satisfaction that the patronage which should be theirs has gone to strangers. Let us patronize home industries and probably in the near future some of our store girls, who are underpaid at the expense of their parents, will receive at least a living wage. Now, then, all with a will. Boost Barre and let all have a chance to live.

In the American Woolen mills of Winooski, Vt., women and children work 64 hours per week, under unsanitary conditions, and the lowest wage rate in New England. We have heard so

BURNED AND TORTURED

Atrocities to Indians by Agents of British Rubber Co.

IN PERU ARE EXPOSED

The British Ministry Acts—The Facts
Published with the Cordial Assent of United States.

London, July 15.—The disclosures as to the state of affairs in the rubber industry in Peru published in the blue book, just issued by the foreign office, as the result of Sir Roger Casement's investigations, attract a great amount of attention, and have caused comparisons to be drawn between these wholesale atrocities and those at one time reported from the Congo free state. The British consul-general at Rio Janeiro fully confirms the charges brought against the native agents of the Peruvian-Amazon company, a British concern formerly engaged in rubber collection in the Putumayo district.

The story was first published in the United States, and was brought to the attention of the British foreign office by the Washington state department.

Sir Roger Casement was sent out to Peru a year ago and found overwhelming evidence of the murder and torture of defenseless Indians. He discovered that kerosene had been poured over men, women and children who had been tied to stakes and were then set on fire.

The brains of children had been dashed out, the limbs of Indians had been cut off or broken and they had been left to die. The tortures also included the deliberate starvation of many people.

The foreign office says that, after many months of futile attempts to get the Peruvian government to take measures to prevent the recurrence of such horrors and to punish the guilty persons, it had decided with the cordial acquiescence of the United States government, that the only course to take was to publish the facts in full.

MAY DEFER ARCHBALD TRIAL UNTIL WINTER

Many Republican Senators Favor Postponement—Others Want Immediate Trial.

Washington, July 15.—The impeachment of Judge Archbald is now squarely up to the Senate. The formal notification of impeachment proceedings instituted by the House was laid before the Senate immediately after the vote in the Lorimer case had been announced. Expeditions as he was, the retiring senator had not left the chamber before his announcement in the Archbald case. Senator Bacon promptly moved an order, which was adopted, inviting the committee of impeachment, on behalf of the House, to appear before the Senate. The committee will doubtless appear on the floor of the Senate to-day and request immediate action in the Archbald matter.

There is a growing impression among senators that the impeachment trial will be deferred until the winter session of Congress or at an extraordinary session after the November elections. It will depend chiefly on the length of time demanded by Judge Archbald for the preparation of his case. If he can be ready to proceed within the next two or three weeks, before the business of the session is concluded, the Senate can do nothing but sit and hear the case. Many Republicans favor a postponement. Several Democrats, including Senators Bailey, Simmons and Reed, insist there should be an immediate trial.

AEROPLANE TURNS TURTLE, FLYER KILLED

Victor Morris Smith, Jr., Held Amateur
Speed Record—Was Circling Down —Upset By Sudden Gust.

Palo Alto, Cal., July 15.—Victor Morris Smith, Jr., holder of the world's record for aeroplane speed, was killed at Ravenswood, near here, Saturday, when his machine fell at the end of a flight from Mountainview. The aeroplane was caught by a gust of wind as Smith was circling the ground, and fell 50 feet. Smith's neck was broken.

The young aviator was a student at Stanford university, class of 1914, before he took up aviation. He was 29 years old, Smith left his class in civil engineering to devote all his time to aviation. He was encouraged when, in amateur competition, he broke all speed records at San Diego last April.

A crowd of 400 persons watched his fall. He was 50 feet from the ground when his machine turned turtle. He was pinned under it.

Greatly Reduced Illustration of the Complete $12 Set

For Home, School or Office. For Public or Private Institutions

Millions of dollars are being spent in advertising EXPENSIVE sets of educational books. The Britannica alone is expending upwards of a million dollars in general publicity in the four-page announcements you have seen run for over a year in every magazine you open. But any expensive set is large and unhandy; they are made up of ten, or twenty, or more books; they are heavy and unwieldy. The prices of such sets are so high—over $100—that they must be sold on the installment plan.

The publishers of Everybody's Encyclopedia took advantage of all these facts, and from a revision of ALL these various large and good encyclopedias they have compiled ALL THAT IS GOOD—all that is necessary—and have merely eliminated or condensed that which would be of interest to a specialist, or a technical student. BUT it is NOT advertised in the magazines, and you can get it ONLY through this newspaper, while this one edition lasts, previous to its being put on sale through canvassers at its regular $12 price after this immense publicity campaign is finished.

BLACKSMITH'S RICH FIND.

Checks in Bag Aggregate Over $500,000.

Albany, N. Y., July 15.—Thomas O'Brien leaving his blacksmith shop on Lafayette street noticed a half-opened leather bag lying behind an iron fence which fronted an adjoining dwelling. He picked it up and found it contained checks totaling thousands of dollars. O'Brien at once notified police headquarters and later delivered the bag and its contents to Detective William P. Hull. The checks, which aggregated $538,113.45, proved to be the property of the United Cigar Stores company of New York. The company when notified by telephone told the police that the checks, with $22.34 in currency, had been sent by a messenger to the National Bank of Commerce in New York yesterday for deposit, but as the company employs 15 and 20 messengers, they were unable to state which one was missing. One of the checks was for $181,080, another for $153,000, a third for $163,125 and a fourth for $22,741. The others were for smaller amounts. The company supposed the deposit had been made until they received word that its contents had been found in Albany. Assistant A. O. Breton said he would go to Albany to investigate.

Old-Fashioned Remedies.

Science in surgery and electricity has advanced much in the past thirty years, but the treatment of disease by the old-fashioned remedies made from roots and herbs has never been improved upon. This may be seen by the great success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs and known to-day as the great remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine.
